CORE UX PROBLEMS IDENTIFIED

1. Navigation Is Confusing

Currently We Have:

- Top Horizontal Category Navigation (Home, News, Premium, Global…)
- Bottom Navigation (Home, Premium, My View, Quick Read, Settings)
- Hamburger Side Drawer
- Section Tabs Inside
- Section Tabs Inside My View

Its Create

- Too Many Navigation Systems
- Cognitive Load
- Overlapping Hierarchy
- No Clear Mental Model

2. Ad Experience Is Aggressive & Disruptive

This May Increase Impressions But Reduces Experience Quality.

Long Term Risk: Retention Drop.

3. My View – Completely Dead Feature (UX Failure)

- User Clicks My View
- Immediately Sees Login Wall
- No Explanation Of Value
- No Preview
- No Demo Content

4. Quick Read – Underutilized Opportunity

Quick Read Page Is Actually Good

But Problem Is

- Hidden In Bottom Nav
- Not Visible From Homepage
- Not Integrated In Article Cards
- No “3 Min Read” Indicator On Homepage

It Feels Like A Separate Feature, Not Part Of This

5. Premium Tab Confusion

- Separate Top Tabs
- Same Card Structure As Free Content
- No Strong Differentiation

6. Homepage Hierarchy Is Weak

- Headlines Look Similar Weight
- Visual Hierarchy Is Flat
- Too Many Similar Cards
- No Editorial Emphasis
- No “Today’s Big Story” Framing

Hi Team,

Sharing the report/inference based on the queries run and data collected for the Manorama Online app regarding the usage of app features.

- Users visit the app primarily for content consumption and actively use navigation to move across different sections. The most popular channel is News, followed by Movies and Sports.
- The ‘My Views’ and ‘Quick Read’ features are not being used efficiently, with only approximately 5% of users engaging with them.
- Error-heavy paths: Multiple paths show repetitive error sequences, indicating technical friction (Sessions with Errors: 1,697,907 (6.1% of total))- Taken up with the team
- Notification fatigue is evident: The overwhelming dominance of push notification events (77.9%) with minimal app interaction suggests users are receiving notifications but not engaging with them. This creates noise in the data and may indicate over-notification.
- Onboarding drop-off: The 30% drop from onboarding Step 1 to Step 4 indicates friction in the user activation flow, particularly at the premium subscription stage where interest drops significantly.
