

Just In is repeated twice in the same viewport, causing redundancy and unnecessary visual clutter.

The screenshot shows the manoramaONLINE homepage. On the left side, there's a sidebar with various icons and a 'Just In' section. Below it, there are two identical 'Just In' news feeds, each containing three news items. The first news item in both feeds is about C J Joy. The second news item is about income tax rates. The third news item is about a woman's death. A red box highlights the second 'Just In' section. To the right of the news feeds, there's a sidebar for 'FOLLOW THE TOPICS' with options like 'C J JOY', 'INCOME TAX RATES', 'LATEST NEWS', and 'INCOME TAX RATE'.
