UX Insight

Quick & Lightweight Experience

Inshorts : — very concise news bites for fast consumption.

Aggregated & Personalized

Dailyhunt and Google News : bring together many sources into one personalized feed.

Editorial & Deep Journalism

TOI, The Hindu, BBC, NYT emphasize editorial integrity and full-length articles.

Editorial & Deep Journalism

What competitors are doing well

Inshorts & Google News —

personalization and quick access to relevant news.

Our Quick Read should emphasize personalization and relevance.

NYT & The Hindu

Deep reading flows with thoughtful layout and editorial navigation.

Our Article should emphasize readability, strong typography, and related context.

TOI

multi-format content and ePaper integration

We should grouping our e-paper, videos, premium explainers more cohesively.

Competitors are

- Inshorts : Speed
- Google News : Personalization
- NYT : Depth
- Dailyhunt : Regional aggregation
- BBC : Trust

Personalization

Google News and Dailyhunt

Personalization is default
Feed feels relevant
Discovery feels smart

Our Data Shows

My View = 5%
Quick Read = 5%

That means personalization is present but not integrated.

"feature-based personalization" to "feed-level personalization."

It Measns Personalization should be invisible, not optional.

Speed + Depth Must Coexist

Users today:

Skim first (like Inshorts)
Deep read selectively (like NYT)
Expect instant updates (like BBC)

We have Quick Read and Premium — but they feel separate.

The new Design should consider

Quick scan layer
Deep reading layer
Premium layer

one continuous journey — not separate tabs.

Premium Must Sell Value, Not Ad Removal

NYT and The Hindu sell: Analysis , Authority , Investigative depth

Current our premium position feels like:

"Tired of ads? Go Premium."

Premium must be repositioned as:

Exclusive explainers , Author insights, Data stories , Election deep dives

Not just ad removal. Need Discussion

Navigation Simplicity Its very Critical

Competitor:

Inshorts → One swipe flow
Google News → Clear feed + For You
NYT → Clean section hierarchy

Our Current Nav

Top nav
Bottom nav
Hamburger
Internal tabs

This creates cognitive load.

New Design must simplify navigation to:

Home
Explore
Premium
Profile
Video

Regional Authority Our Biggest Strength

Brand trust in Kerala
Strong editorial identity
E-paper ecosystem
Premium potential

Kerala's most trusted digital news platform

Not just another news app.
